CARB POWDER

Strength Series Carb Powder is the evolution of carbohydrate supplements, featuring 25 g of patented Cluster Dextrin® (highly branched cyclic dextrin) in every serving. This is not your traditional glucose-loaded sports beverage that leaves your stomach in knots. In contrast to low molecular weight carbohydrates like dextrose, Cluster Dextrin® is a novel highly branched, high-molecular-weight carbohydrate derived from amylopectin. The unique chemical characteristics of Cluster Dextrin® allow it to be rapidly absorbed into the intestines instead of spiking your insulin levels and wreaking havoc on your stomach.

We also recommend using TL Carb Powder immediately before training for fueling your workouts and augmenting athletic performance; after training, consume TL Carb Powder in conjunction with TL Protein Powder to ignite the recovery process and pack on lean muscle mass.

ProteinSeries Organic Vegan has a protein base of 2:1 rice to pea protein ratio. This creates a smooth and reduced grit texture that is not only delicious but easy on the digestive system. In addition to packing a heavy protein punch (at 24 grams), Organic Vegan also contains a whopping 4 grams of fiber per serving (perhaps one of the most understated components of a plant-based protein).

Vegan protein is not just for people adhering to a vegan diet, but is a powerful source of protein and fiber for anyone who is focused on total health optimization.

COLLAGEN HYDROLYSATE

It is well understood that as we age, our body's natural production of collagen decreases. This leads to wrinkles, sagging skin, sore ligaments, and overall visible signs of aging.

Transparent Labs Hydrolyzed collagen has been found to deliver bio-active peptides to the skin and connective tissues. Supplementing with hydrolyzed collagen can deliver visible reductions in skin wrinkles and sagging, as well as a reduction in sore ligaments and overall signs of aging.

HYDRATE

In addition to drinking plenty of water, supplementing with Transparent Labs Hydrate helps rapidly replenish electrolytes and hydrate the body before, during, and after exercise

This electrolyte supplement is not your typical “sports beverage” that’s loaded with cheap sugars, artificial coloring, and artificial sweeteners. Instead, we carefully crafted Transparent Labs Hydrate with a comprehensive profile of bioavailable minerals like taurine to keep you performing at peak capacity for hours on end.

These ingredients work synergistically to support optimal hydration status and electrolyte balance, both of which are imperative for sustaining muscle contractility, endurance, recovery, and cell volumization. GDA - GLUCOSE DISPOSAL AGENT

Transparent Labs GDA (glucose disposal agent) contains preeminent insulinotropic ingredients, such as Promilin®, GlucoVantage®, Cinnulin PF® and R-alpha lipoic acid. These insulin-sensitizing ingredients work synergistically to amplify insulin signaling at muscle cells, thereby promoting the actions of glucose transporter proteins (specifically GLUT4) which bind to muscle cell membranes and transport glucose from the bloodstream into the cell. This results in an optimal anabolic environment for muscle building while depriving fat cells of glucose and preventing excess fat storage.

- Clinically dosed glucose disposal agent
- Selective nutrient partitioning for body recomposition
- Use with meals containing carbs to promote muscle fullness and volumization

L-CITRULLINE

L-Citrulline is a non-proteinogenic amino acid that was first discovered in the rind of watermelon in the early 1900s. It has a well-characterized role in the urea cycle and the synthesis of nitric oxide, the latter of which is responsible for its blood flow-promoting properties and ergogenic effects.

Supplementing with L-citrulline has been shown to significantly increase oxygen uptake, improve hemodynamics, and promote a positive nitrogen balance during intense exercise, all of which are conducive to athletic performance, recovery, strength, and muscle fullness.

In contrast to citrulline malate, the citrulline salt of malic acid, this supplement contains pure L-citrulline powder in its native amino-acid form.

BETAINE ANHYDROUS

RawSeries Betaine Anhydrous (sometimes also referred to as trimethylglycine/TMG or glycine betaine) provides 1,500 mg of pure, unflavored BetaPure™ betaine anhydrous in every scoop to help propel your performance in the gym.

Betaine is an important cofactor for methylation reactions that occur in cells; in particular, it is a crucial regulator of homocysteine balance and, therefore, cardiovascular function. In recent years, betaine anhydrous has garnered a healthy amount of praise as a sports supplement due to its osmolytic (hydrating) and ergogenic properties, such as reducing fatigue and increasing anaerobic performance.

BETA-ALANINE

Raw Series Beta-Alanine provides 3,000 mg of pure beta-alanine per scoop. Beta-alanine is a beta-amino acid (not involved in muscle protein synthesis) and the rate-limiting factor of carnosine synthesis in the body. Carnosine is an important dipeptide—made from histidine and beta-alanine—in muscle cells that acts as a buffer in the presence of the acidic byproducts generated during intense exercise (e.g. lactic acid and hydrogen ions). Since a significant drop in muscle pH hinders further muscle contractions, supplementing with beta-alanine may help promote strength, endurance, and recovery by increasing muscle carnosine concentrations.

Beta-alanine is most commonly used as a pre-workout and post-workout supplement and can be stacked with other ergogenic aids, like creatine monohydrate. Note: Large doses of beta-alanine may cause a tingling or “pins and needles” sensation in the skin. This is a harmless side effect known as paresthesia that typically lasts for 30 minutes. It’s best to split the doses into smaller portions during the first 1-2 weeks of use to reduce this effect.

AGMATINE

Raw Series Agmatine provides 1,000 mg of pure agmatine sulfate per scoop. Agmatine is a naturally occurring metabolite of L-arginine that appears to have multifarious beneficial properties, such as neuroprotection, vasodilation, and enhanced insulin sensitivity.

Agmatine is also known to be an important neuromodulator within the central nervous system (CNS), and it may help improve mood and cognitive function.

TAURINE

RawSeries Taurine contains 2,000 mg of pure taurine (unflavored) in every scoop. Taurine is a naturally occurring sulfonic acid not abundant in the diet. Supplementing with taurine provides cell-hydrating properties and neuroprotective/nootropic effects that are likely mediated by antioxidant mechanisms.

Taurine is also suggested to bolster endurance and strength during exercise by mitigating exercise-induced oxidative stress. As such, many gym-goers and athletes will take taurine before, during, and/or after training.
